

COLOR CLAIM

An abstract card game. Cards are played in order to compose areas of the same color. Players get points by claiming areas. But the first player who claim an area will get points also when other players claim the same area.

Play your card to make large areas of the same color

Gain points claiming your area by putting a dice on the card you have just played

Other players who claim the same area will give you points.

Be the first to use all your dice to close the game
