

ICH BIN EIN BERLINER

The game of the phone calls to escape from East Berlin

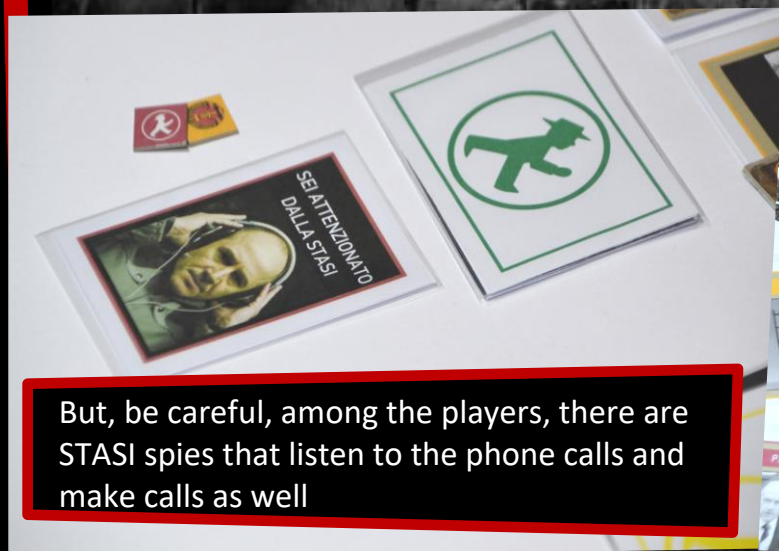

Players are East Berlin citizens willing to escape from DDR, but they must be careful because, among them, there are also STASI (DDR police) spies. The winners are the players that realize the escape. This game won in 2020 the "Remo Chiosso" prize.

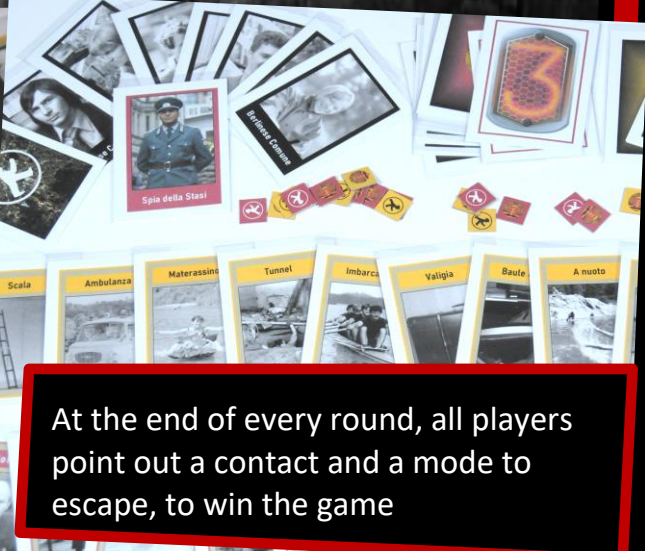

The secret informer choose the contact and the mode to escape from East Berlin

The players make "phone calls" to the informer to find out who and how are planned to escape

But, be careful, among the players, there are STASI spies that listen to the phone calls and make calls as well

At the end of every round, all players point out a contact and a mode to escape, to win the game
